Strengthening health systems: improving population health and being prepared for the unexpected

The annual EPH conferences are considered the premier European gatherings of public health professionals worldwide. Delegates include researchers, policymakers, practitioners and educators in public health and many other related fields.

SHARING KNOWLEDGE

The 15th EPH Conference offers excellent opportunities to learn from the latest research and practice, to network with experts and colleagues and to expand your professional horizons. Abstracts will be invited for workshops and single presentations in all areas touching upon public health research, practice and policy as from 1 February 2022.

Main theme of the conference is Strengthening health systems: improving population health and being prepared for the unexpected.

SUB THEMES:

- Preparing for the unexpected: lessons learned from Covid-19 and other disasters
- Expanding horizons: the role of Europe in global health
- Achieving universal health coverage (UHC): reducing health inequity
- Harmonizing information systems and health reporting: ensuring function and use
- Measuring health system performance: using data to improve population health
- Sustaining high quality care: interprofessional training for our clinical and public health workforce
- Utilizing the transformational potential of health promotion: accelerating action on SDGs

NETWORKING

The conference offers excellent opportunities for professional networking and for making and renewing friendships. The social programme includes a welcome reception and a conference dinner.
